Mylkcubator 3.0

Organizer

Mylkcubator Incubation Programme is organized by Pascual Innoventures S.L.U with a registered office at Avda. Manoteras 24, 28050 de Madrid (Spain), and with tax identification code number CIF B-02905453, enter in the Commercial Register of Madrid, Volume 41440 , Book 0, Page M-734326, section 8, record 1^a, and email address info@pascualinnoventures.com – hereinafter referred to as Pascual Innoventures – and managed by Eatable Adventures

Pascual Innoventures is a Calidad Pascual open innovation vehicle to immerse yourself in the entrepreneurial ecosystem and create alliances with start-ups that share the same philosophy, anticipating global food needs. For Pascual Innoventures, this philosophy is fundamental, a culture that begins with the premise of creating value wherever they can in this world. It is about giving the consumer a memorable experience and, at the same time, contributing to the survival of our planet.

Introduction

Pascual Innoventures ensures the future of the company by entering and growing new businesses outside the core business with high potential.

Integrity: we are committed to being honest, consistent and responsible in all our acting areas and all of our relationships.

Closeness: we bond with consumers, clients, employees, shareholders, suppliers and society in general from equality, empathy, mutual respect, trust and humility.

Innovation: We dream of a better future, and for this reason, we put all the effort and the necessary resources to contribute new and efficient solutions to current and future needs.

Passion: We believe in the culture of responsibility and we are convinced that success is achieved through motivation, commitment and enthusiasm that demonstrate all the people in the organization.

Quality: We seek excellence and added value creation that differentiates us through the talent and effort that we all contribute for the daily improvement of our products, services and management.

Innoventures is launching the Mylkcubator Incubation Programme with the aim of supporting highly innovative startups specializing in the transformation of the food value chain for the production of dairy alternatives using cellular agriculture.

Who is this call for projects aimed at?

Start-ups capable of addressing the challenges raised, developing their value proposals in the same business area as Innoventures and adding scalable business models that are unequalled in the market.

The Call for Projects is launched at international level and the selected projects must be capable of being implemented in Spain at an early stage.
